CARNATION NEWS

For a number of years during the latter part of November and early December, I have called on the leading Carnation Growers in New England, Pennsylvania, New York and other states to check on New Carnation Seedlings to see how they are doing.

I left November 16th this year for a two week trip. I was delighted to see such good stock with most growers and all of them were pleased with the market returns.

For some reason, the cut of Red will be short this Christmas with most growers.

For 1943 and 1944 to save labor, many growers are going to carry over such varieties as Virginia, Virginia Rose, Pelargonium, John Briry and perhaps many other varieties. I saw the above varieties carried over this year and they are doing very well.

Wm. Sims "Northland", New Snow White Seedling looks very promising with growers who have it on trial. Also, Elizabeth Rowe which is a fine substitute for Virginia Rose for growers who cannot grow it.

Scarlet King, Sport of Pelargonium is doing very well with growers who bought it two years ago. It looks very promising to me. The petals are Cream White with Bright Red markings in the center and edge. It is very beautiful.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS BY WM. SIM & SON, THE INTRODUCERS OF MARY STUART, SILVERLYN AND LOCHINVAR:—

Mary Stuart, Silverlyn and Lochinvar are fancy novelties which require more care than regular varieties. There is a market for these lovely novelties by the best flower buyers and retailers.

I recommend the above varieties because they are free flowering and will pay any grower who grows them if handled according to directions.

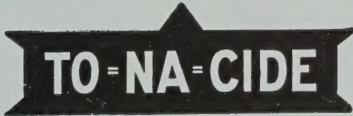

The above varieties should be pinched as late as Sept. 15th to 25th. By doing so, they will come truer to color showing the silver and orchid edging from late November and December and through the winter they will show their true markings.

Calling on Mr. C. B. Johnson, Woburn, Mass. on November 23rd, 1942 he showed me a bench of Silverlyn that he was proud of. He gave them the last pinch September 15th.

We are learning how to grow these fancy varieties. Last year we did not know that Silverlyn, Mary Stuart and Lochinvar should be pinched late to get flowers more true to color with better stems, etc. If you pinch these varieties as late as September 15th to 25th you will have good production from early December until Spring.

Wm. Sim & Son, North Berwick, Maine, the introducers of Silverlyn, Mary Stuart and Lochinvar, grow these varieties and sell them in the Boston Flower Market and they average 2¢ more through the season than any other commercial varieties because they have something different. You can do the same!

Mr. Sim also advised me that he found these novelty varieties do best in soil where the P.H. is around 6.5. For best results he recommends the use of superphosphate on all fancy varieties with silver or orchid edgings and by giving these varieties the extra care, they get a better price in the market.
